Anything else you would like to share: In my room, I believe that students learn best and grow to be amazing by being introduced to a new experience. It is for this reason that I make it an objective monthly to bring in new STEM toys, change out the old toys that are no longer an interest to students, and to transform the dramatic play area into new themed units. In Kindergarten, we also conduct weekly experiments in class or do foodie fun activities. My classroom is always changing and adapting based on the interests of my students. Kindergarten is all about new experiences, dressing up, and getting messy while learning core curriculum material.
