You all should be proud of what you have accomplished. We all know that this year has not gone as planned, and WE were able to travel these uncharted waters together. Remote learning was a new endeavor for many of us, but everyone gave it 100% and didn't settle for "less then their best". Thank you to all parents/grandparents for helping your children/grandchildren stay on top of their homework and make sure assignments were completed. We could not have done this without your support.
